Deputy nabs car thief

BY LIZ HAAS

Hancock County Sheriff's Deputy Travis Foreman led a 3:45 p.m. car chase Wednesday that ended with a three-car crash and a foot chase.

Bay St. Louis Police Chief Frank McNeil reported, "Foreman noticed the driver acting suspiciously while driving on Highway 90 and called in the license plate number for a routine check."

"As he began passing the vehicle, the dispatcher informed him that the North Carolina license plate was registered as stolen, which gave him probable cause to detain and stop the vehicle."

He continued, the vehicle, a 1993 Dodge Stealth, sped onto Easterbrook Street and Foreman followed.

With speeds in excess of 60 miles per hour, the car headed down Necaise and turned right on Bookter Street, heading left over the railroad tracks. "The entire vehicle left the ground while crossing," McNeil stated.

Foreman reported to have followed the vehicle left onto Blaize Street by Al Kingston's Barber Shop where another deputy, Kenny Hurt, was heading in the opposite direction of the Stealth.

McNeil said, "The Dodge was heading in the wrong lane towards Hurt, so he switched lanes in an attempt to miss the vehicle, but it swerved and hit him."

"The suspected car went into a spin and hit Hurt's vehicle which drove the deputy's car into a parked vehicle. The driver then took off on foot, while his passenger remained in the car."

McNeil added, "Foreman led the foot chase and apprehended the driver in the rear of the old St. Rose School."

He reported that an investigation revealed, in

Hebert addresses Morning Edition

BY ELLIS CUEVAS

Southern District Public Service Commissioner Curt Hebert Jr. addressed chamber members Friday at the Morning Edition held at Casino Magic.

Hebert said he represents 23 counties, and described the duties of the office. He said he and his staff are working to overcome an 'image' problem.

Hebert was appointed to his position by Gov. Kirk Fordice June, 1992. The two prior Public Service Commissioners for the district were removed from office.

Hebert said, "It is wonderful to see all of this business, I am excited it. I know everybody was a little pessimistic and did not know what would be going on with casinos.

"There is a lot of energy here; I am sure Mississippi Power is excited coming in here and seeing all of these lights."

A native of Pascagoula, Hebert said he is glad to be back on the Coast. He commutes between the Coast and Jackson.

In making his presentation, he said, "I think people ought to work for a living. I think we need to watch our taxes and be careful about our spending. I think you ought to give good rates to the people who give good service on the utilities, and I think at the same time, you need to get good service and uninterrupted service."

"It is important to educate our children, as we have made our investment in them," Hebert said.

"I think we need to be careful how our government spends our money. We need to be careful about the people I regulate, and how they spend your money, because all the money they spend, you are going to help them spend by giving them rates, and that is how it works," Hebert added.

Hebert went into the areas the Public Service Commission regulates and the areas they do not.

He talked about how his

Young basketball star to vie in national contest

BY LIZ HAAS

Amanda "Mandy" Theobald, 13, plans to go out with a bang in her fourth and final year competing for the Elks National Free Throw contest, after placing in the finals for two years.

"I get nervous in the competitions, but I don't worry about it," she said, "I think I'll do good."

This year the petite five-foot-eighth grader captured the competition at Pass Christian Middle School for the girls age group she is in, making 22 of the 25 free throw shots.

She advanced to compete in the local Elks Hoop Shoot at Gulfport High School February 20 and won in a shoot-off contest.

The state competition will be held at Ocean Springs High School on March 6.

Last year, Mandy advanced to the regional Elks competition and missed qualification for the finals by two shots. The year before she ranked sixth place in the finals and fourth place the year before that.

She is the daughter of Don and Chris Theobald of DeLisle.

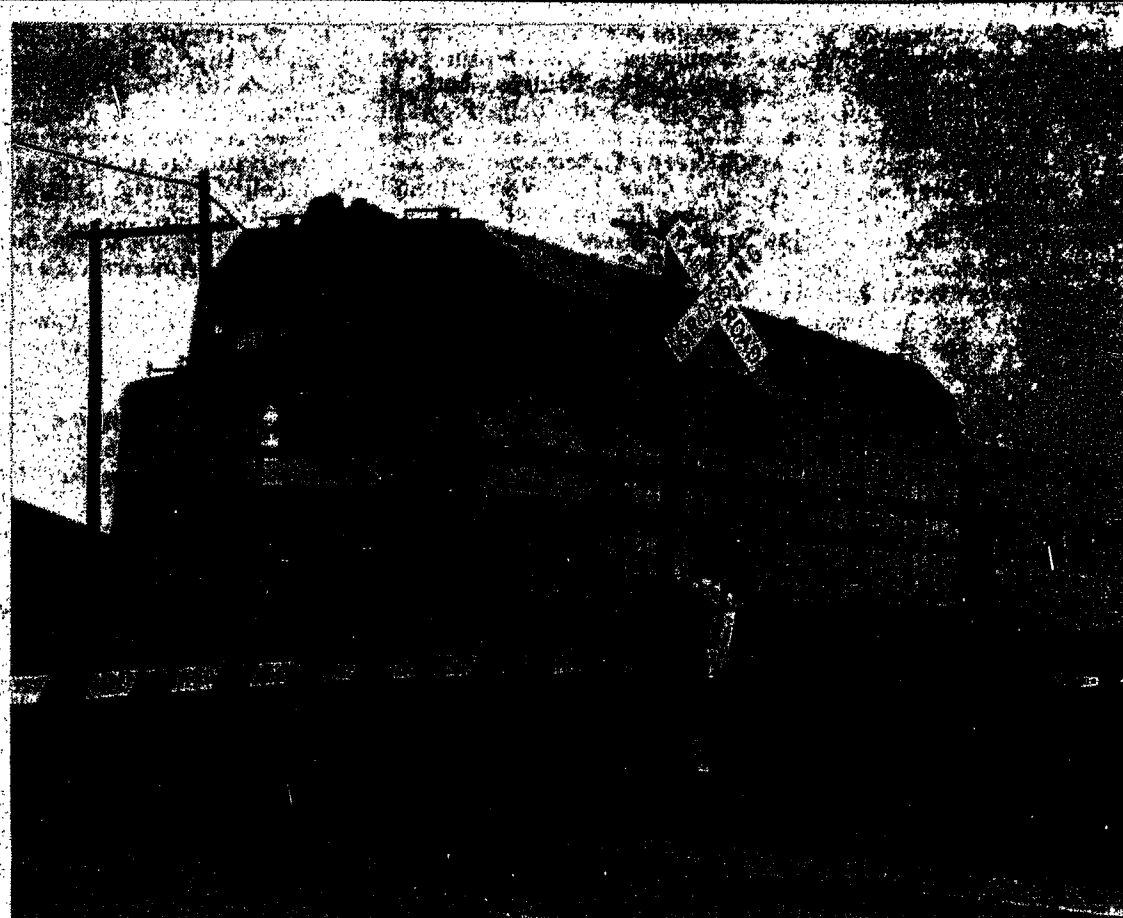

"I practice with my dad for about an hour every night," she said, "But I really play so much because I love it."

"She just gets out there and plays and pretty much does it herself," her mother said.

Over three million players throughout the country entered the Elks Hoop Shoot competition last year.

The three age groups the competition has for both girls and boys are 8-9, 10-11 and 12-13. Each contestant has 25 shots at the hoop for every level of the competition.

Bay St. Louis contracts for depot platform work

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

Bay St. Louis City Council accepted a $135,540 bid for construction of a platform and depot site work Wednesday, setting the wheels in motion for the March 31 arrival of Amtrak.

City building inspector Kevin Fitzpatrick said he expects the work to begin no later than the end of this week, and hopefully sooner.

The contract was awarded to Dillon Construction of Carriere, the lowest of seven bids submitted.

The platform will extend 529 feet from the center of the depot and five feet from the center of the track.

The repaving of an existing platform area fronting the depot, as well as parking and drive work, is included in the awarded contract, but cannot be completed until the city owns the property.

For now, Fitzpatrick explained, only the platform bordering the track will be constructed and upon it will sit an open sided pavilion or covered shelter as well as 19 goose-neck lights. It will also have a wheelchair lift, ramps for the handicapped, information board and public telephone.

Upon city ownership of the CSX depot and grounds the covered shelter will be extended as a walkway to the depot building.

Fitzpatrick added, the pavilion or shelter has been designed to complement the ornamental design of the depot's arched windows.

Curbside recycling

Bay town meeting slated to recruit volunteers

Gulf Coast Recycling will begin the process of recruiting community volunteers for Bay St. Louis' curbside recycling program at a town meeting

March 3. The meeting begins at 6 p.m. at Mississippi Power Company on Hwy. 90, and is open to all city residents, who are urged to bring questions and suggestions.

Volunteers will serve as region and block leaders, acting as ongoing liaisons for their neighbors and Gulf Coast Recycling. They will canvass from 15 to 20 households the week of March 14-20 to explain the curbside recycling program and to distribute pamphlets and information packets.

Curbside pick-up for the city's households will begin Thursday, April 1, and is being operated by Gulf Coast Recycling under a five-month contract with the City of Bay St. Louis. Each of the five recycling routes will be serviced on a different weekday.

The March 3 meeting is part of an intensive month-long public information and education schedule designed to elicit 100 percent participation in the recycling program.

"We want to teach people in the community how to recycle effectively and minimize the program's costs to get maximum economic and environmental returns on their program," said GCR's executive director, Penny Penrose.

Further aspects of GCR's community education program include:

—Recycling education programs to be presented March 3-8 at all Bay St. Louis elementary and middle schools, with each including a visit by the recycling truck and display of sample curbside bins;

—A series of individual route meetings March 7-13 for residents in each of the five recycling collection routes;

—Posters displayed and fliers available at grocery stores and other prominent locations.

In addition to the stolen license plate, the car was stolen on January 16 from a Macon, Georgia, car lot and that the passenger, a local resident, had no knowledge of the theft of the vehicle.

The driver, Curtis A. Johnston, 27, from Macon was arrested and charged as a fugitive for a parole violation for stealing; aggravated assault on a police officer with a motor vehicle, carrying a concealed weapon (a fully-loaded .38 caliber revolver) after a felony conviction, leaving the scene of the accident and resisting arrest. McNeil said, Deputy Hurt sustained minor injuries and was transported to Hancock Medical Center and was released later that day.

He added, the front of Hurt's vehicle was severely damaged. The passenger side of the stolen vehicle sustained minor damage and there was minor damage to the rear tail gate and front bumper of the parked car into which the deputy's car was thrown.

Lieutenant Dave Sellier of the Bay St. Louis Police Department headed the accident investigation.

Shane Corr, Bay Police Department, is in charge of the follow-up investigation.

Bay Police Chief Frank McNeil, Waveland Police Chief James Varnell and Hancock County Sheriff Ronnie Peterson were all on the scene.

Senior Citizen Happenings

By Eve McDonald
 The seniors have been very busy this month doing good and having fun. Some of our ladies from our classes went to the Welcome Center with RSVP to display their arts and crafts for Black History Month.

These ladies have learned a lot at the center and are sharing their expertise now with new class members and the community. Even Carl Baldenhofer started out as a pupil at the center!

On the 17th we had a Black History program and lunch at the center. Arlene Johnson and gang prepared delicious red beans and rice and fried chicken. This sure is soul food for many of us who have lived in this area.

Our Mardi Gras party featured Bo and Dee and lively seniors. Rosine was in on the act of wheelchair dancing. Lots of fun and lots of folks letting the "good times roll."

First place winners of the state competition advance to the regionals in Valdosta, Ga., competing against winners from Mississippi, Florida, Alabama, Georgia and South Carolina.

First place winners of regionals compete in the Elks finals in Indianapolis, Ind.

"Elks is really a good competition; it helps a lot of kids," said Chris Theobald.

Mandy has played for Pass Middle High's basketball team as point guard for the past two years and was awarded the best offensive player of the year this year. She averaged over 15 points per game.

She has also made the all-conference team for the Gulf Coast Junior High Conference for the past two years.

"I prefer to play with my friends at school. It's fun," she said.

The walls in Mandy's room are lined with trophies, awards, plaques, certificates and basketballs from the many tournaments and contests she has excelled in.

She won the International Knights of Columbus Free-Throw competition when she was 10 years old.

She began her interest in basketball when she was just five. She was able to join the St. Paul basketball team consisting of first through sixth graders while she was in kindergarten.

Her mother recalled the first goal Mandy ever made in a game. "She was playing on the B team with the other younger girls against Long Beach whose B team consisted of girls in the fifth and sixth grades and the Long Beach girls just towered over them. They were nice and moved out of her way to let her take a shot. She took a granny shot (from under the legs) because she wasn't strong enough yet, and it went in. The crowd just roared. She looked over at me with a big smile."

"She played at St. Paul through the third grade and played in fourth through sixth grades for a Long Beach Pee Wee League.

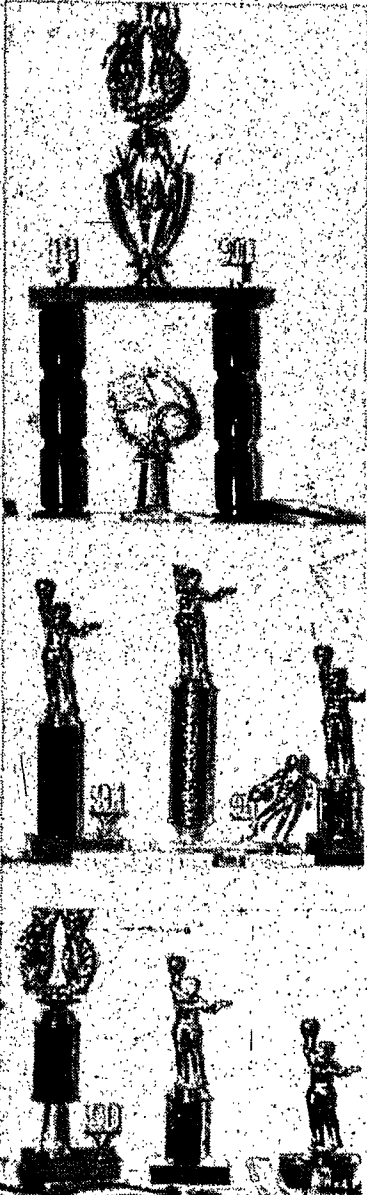

Next year, she plans to play on the Pass High School basketball team.

"Mandy's two older sisters, Jennifer and Stacey, have always played basketball, too, so that influenced her interest because they were always playing," her mother said.

In addition to excelling in basketball, she also played on the high school softball team this year at Pass High, was on the high school tennis team last year and manages to find time to be a cheerleader.

"My dream is to play college basketball and I would like to play professionally, too," said Mandy.

Trophies line the walls of Mandy's room.

Wilkerson recuperating in Washington, D. C.

Bay St. Louis City Councilman John Wilkerson is recuperating in Washington, D. C. after suffering a mild heart problem.

Wilkerson passed out while checking into a hotel there last Friday and was rushed to an area hospital where tests were run.

"I've got a weak heart muscle; it runs too fast, so they're going to have to put a pacemaker in me," said Wilkerson in a telephone interview from his Georgetown University Hospital room where he will stay until the operation.

He will have a pacemaker installed by the Veteran's Administration Hospital March 8 and will return home a few days later.

The councilman said he had a pacemaker installed last week before he left for D.C. and will probably have that one removed.

Wilkerson and his wife, Lucille, were in D.C. on American Legion business.

Amtrak

Municipal clerk Kay Johnson commented that the station will not have a ticket outlet for direct purchases, but the possibility of the city contracting with a travel agent for such a service at the depot is a definite possibility.

She related, the city and CSX Transportation are still in negotiations concerning the purchase of the former city train depot.

She explained, CSX submitted an estimate of costs for construction of a new building for re-location of their present storage and office facilities.

"Those estimates were way more than the city could afford," she said.

According to Johnson, the purchase of the depot is not necessary for initiation of the Amtrak service.

Mayor Edward Favre stated, "We are trying to tie together the closing of certain railroad crossings with the upgrading of the remaining crossings, the creation of new connecting roads between those crossings, closed and open, and obtaining the depot and the surrounding property."

Thursday, city representatives met with Amtrak officials at the depot to discuss the welcoming ceremonies for the March 31 arrival.

Along with national and state dignitaries, Disney characters shall make a 15-minute stop for the ceremony at the historical site.

Mayor Edward Favre said, the 15-car train is scheduled to arrive at 10:15 a.m.

"After our conversation Thursday with CSX," he commented, "I expect all negotiations concerning the railroad crossings and depot to be completed within two weeks."

The city has applied for grant monies for renovation of the depot.

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

The birds are singing, some flowers are blooming and it will not be long until spring is here. The cracking of bats striking balls isn't too far off either.

There will be registration for the Bay St. Louis Girls Little League Softball program next Saturday from 9 a.m. to noon.

Registration will be held at the McDonald Field for girls ages 9 to 18 years old.

The program was very successful last year and many girls who participated.

This league is open to any girl in Hancock County and Pass Christian.

There is a registration fee of $20 and those wanting to play must also have a birth certificate.

A second registration day will be Saturday, March 13 during the same hours.

For further information, call Bill Carrigee, 466-4353.

I am sure other leagues are getting their things together for other ball programs in Bay St. Louis, Waveland and the county.

Boys and girls should begin sharpening their skills in hitting, catching and running bases.

I hope everyone will have a good and enjoyable ball season.

This is the time of year when area firefighters really have their hands full.

The big problem is wild woods fires that destroy thousands and thousands of acres of woodlands in our county.

Many of these fires are set on purpose and there are stiff penalties for persons willfully setting wild fires.

I know our woods are wet, but it doesn't take long for a north wind to dry out the grasses.

If it wouldn't be for firefighters, many of our residents would lose their homes because of woods fires.

Woods fires cause damages to trees and wildlife too.

Please be careful with burning. Remember, you are responsible if a fire gets away from you.

Did you get your Girl Scout cookies this year? Orders have been delivered during the past week.

This is a big fund-raiser for Girl Scouts and the cookies are really good this year.

I know I have eaten more than I should have, it is just hard to resist those yummy sweets I eat.

REPORT FROM THE SENATE

A weekly update

Appropriations and Revenue bills were acted on by the Senate as the Feb. 25 deadline for floor action on those bills originating in the Senate passed the legislature.

Senate Bill 3039 passed the Senate and should prove to be one of the most influential for business people in the state of Mississippi. This bill creates the "Mississippi Small Business Assistance Act" which will provide assistance for job retention and creation and small business development.

"Small businesses" under this bill mean any commercial enterprise with less than 50 full-time employees, less than $2 million in net worth or less than $200,000 in net annual profits.

The act will be administered by various planning and development districts and certain community development corporations located throughout the state. Each planning district is granted an initial $1 million and each community development district is entitled to $500,000.

The lending entities have 18 months to enter binding commitments to provide assistance to small businesses in order to avoid losing the million dollars. Those lending entities which meet initial lending limits are able to access an additional $12 million earmarked for loans.

Thus, the Small Business Assistance Act provides a one-stop loan program to aid manufacturing or retail expansion in order to conserve and create new jobs. In addition to the loan portion of the act, there is also a venture capital provision which will enable an entrepreneur to obtain a capital operating loan by selling a portion of ownership to the lending entity. Nevertheless, the act also provides a grant program to assist in the development of small businesses.

Senator Johnson may be reached by writing P. O. Box 1018, Jackson, MS 39215 or by calling 369-8770.

This act is structured to ensure that the lending agencies actively pursue all applications and vigorously work to inform the general public that this very valuable and affordable assistance program exists in their area. This proposal will fill a void in the lending market of financial assistance for those people who have built the viable economy in our state. This new approach sends tax dollars back into Mississippi's economy.

In other action this week: The Senate passed an act to establish a local system bridge replacement and rehabilitation program to assist counties and municipalities in the construction and repair of bridges located on local road systems. The bill will provide for the issuance of $16 million dollars in general obligation bonds of the state to fund the program.

A motor vehicle ad valorem tax credit will be given to the spouse or children of a deceased vehicle owner for the taxes paid by the deceased owner according to Senate Bill 2066.

Senate Concurrent Resolution 542 would return $50 million to counties and municipalities for a mandated dollar for dollar reduction in ad valorem taxes.

Any reconsideration by the Senate on appropriations and revenue bills must be conducted by midnight on Saturday, Feb. 27. The Senate is working toward the Tuesday, March 2 deadline for reporting out of committee on general bills and constitutional amendments which originated in the House of Representatives.

Submitted by Mississippi State Senator Bill Johnson

Health fair

Pearl River Community College student Carla Gipson and Sissy Cronin, both of Pearlinton, and Kay Head of Poplarville receive information from Forrest General Hospital's Woman's Resource Center on how to detect early signs of cancer and other serious illnesses. More than 200 students and area citizens attended the fair where more than 17 health organizations and agencies participated.

THE PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

From the Mississippi Economic Council

Listen up, Legislature

A recent skit on "Saturday Night Live" poked fun at personal injury lawyers and their ability to win lawsuits for clients based on such claims as "near-collision stress syndrome."

Such situations are funny on television, but they take on a more serious meaning in real life. And, these situations are happening here in Mississippi. Case in point: A couple is afraid that they might become ill with cancer, so they sue a local industry which they believe could cause the cancer. A court awards the couple $90,000 apiece, based not on injury but on their fear of injury. The jury then decides that punitive damages in the amount of $3 million against the defendant are in order, ultimately providing a $3.2 million windfall to the plaintiffs based on fear.

Who pays the damages? You do, through increased costs for goods and services.

All this can change, however, through the passage of meaningful and enforceable reform in the state's civil justice system. This is a priority issue for the Mississippi Economic Council during the 1993 legislative session, and the MEC has a strong ally in the fight for reform—the people of Mississippi.

A just-released poll from M-FAIR (Mississippi for a Fair Legal System) shows that the taxpayers of this state overwhelmingly support changes in the state's liability lawsuit system.

According to the poll, a majority of respondents believe that liability lawsuits cost jobs and increase the cost of medical care, drugs and insurance. In fact, 70 percent believes that the burden of proof should be higher for punitive damage awards, and that such awards should be limited.

Simply put, the citizens of Mississippi are tired of paying the price of frivolous lawsuits, and they want something done about it. That is the driving force behind M-FAIR, and anyone seeking more information is encouraged to call M-FAIR at (800) 766-7606.

One other interesting result of the poll: 74 percent of the respondents stated that they would be likely to vote against legislative candidates who receive large contributions from personal injury trial lawyers.

The people of Mississippi are speaking out, and the message is loud and clear.

Listen up, Legislature.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Successful passenger flight was due to the work of many

To the Editor:

On Feb. 16, Hancock County's Stennis International Airport entered a new era with the arrival of the first charter passenger service. A second flight arrived the following day, and in the near future, more visitors from around the country will be arriving at our airport on a regular basis.

The process of receiving federal certification for passenger service at Stennis Airport has been a difficult one, but it is one that will bring benefits to this county for many years to come. It also required the cooperation of a number of individuals and groups whose combined efforts helped make it all possible.

The Port and Harbor Commission's appreciation goes to the following:

—Dave Blackshear of Airport Technology Inc. the Port and Harbor Commission's consultants, who gave me the inspiration and confidence to undertake this project over a year and a half ago;

—The Federal Aviation Administration, especially Rusty Edwards and Dana Hunt for their assistance;

—Sheriff Ronnie Peterson and his staff, along with Gulf Coast Security Services, for an outstanding job of providing security during the charter arrivals and departures;

—Chief Jim Weber of NASA and members of the Kiln Volunteer Fire Department for their dedication in preparing for this new aviation service;

—Dave Reuscher for his valuable weather observations;

—The Hancock County Board of Supervisors; and the staff of the Port and Harbor Commission.

A special thanks goes to Casino Magic's Marlin Torguson, Al Kokesh, Shannon O'Neil and Dan Tribble for giving us the "jump start" to get this project moving.

The first two flights served as a learning exercise for everyone involved in this new venture, and the experience will prove invaluable when the charter flights begin operating on a regular basis in the near future.

Stennis Airport is a valuable asset to the county's residents, and this new passenger service presents many opportunities for further economic development.

Sincerely,

Harold "Buz" Olsen

Do your part in the fight against litter

To the Editor:

On behalf of the Hancock Chamber of Commerce, I would like to invite every person in Hancock County to join our "Litter-free '93" campaign. We can be a clean and beautiful community, but only if every one of us participates. We need you! Please consider the following:

Our cities, county, state and federal governments spend millions of dollars cleaning up after careless, thoughtless people—dollars that could be spent on schools, parks, etc. or lowering the deficit.

Please don't use the shopping centers' parking lots as garbage dumps. Some merchants pay over $10,000 per year for parking lot cleanup. Guess who eventually pays for that?

Please don't store trash in the back of your pickup for later disposal—most of this trash ends up on the side of the road. Contain your "throwaways" so they won't blow as you go.

Please don't throw anything out of your vehicle—even cigarette butts. Did you know cigarette butts have a life of 17 years?

Remember, every litter bit hurts!

Please do "adopt" a street or road in Hancock County. We need "front line" warriors to fight litter in our county. Until public awareness and caring citizens make our efforts unnecessary, we need your help to pick up casual litter in our parking lots, parks, in front of your home or business, and/or your adopted street or road.

Cooperate with city/county workers as they continue to clean and beautify Hancock County—it is your money paying for this work. When you see them at work, please tell them "thank you." Everybody likes to know that the work they are doing is appreciated.

Parents, please educate your children by both word and example to take pride in their community and to help keep it clean. How our community appears is a direct reflection of exactly how we view ourselves. The wonderful people who live in Hancock County are not accurately depicted by our littered roads, public areas and woodlands. Please be a part of the solution and join us in making Hancock County litter-free in '93!

Our school awareness program will in time educate a whole generation of citizens who would not dream of littering—but in the meantime—help give us all a clean, beautiful, healthy area in which to live, work and play. Behavior modification is the key. We must break old habits and teach our young people that littering is not an acceptable form of behavior.

"If you keep on doing what you have always done, you'll always get what you've gotten. In order to get something different (better), change what you are doing!" — Anonymous.

Think about it!

Cleaner ditches, Christmas lights not enough for resident

To the Editor:

A reply is needed to the letter of Donald R. Abaunza, printed Feb. 18.

Mr. Abaunza does not have his facts straight as to the state requirements on leasing of city space. The law only requires that the space be advertised for bid. Nothing is stated about the fair rental or the requirement for insurance.

As to the rest of his letter, if after massive increases in the Waveland City budget, the only good things that can be said about Mayor Frilot's administration is that we have cleaner ditches and Christmas lights, then we are far worse off than we thought.

ON PATROL

HIT AND RUN

Waveland Police Department Chief James Varnell reported the arrest of Scott B. Brunell, 19, of Bay St. Louis for leaving the scene of an accident Friday, Feb. 19.

Varnell stated, Brunell, driving a 1971 Pontiac, owned by Henry Favre III of Lakeshore, rear-ended a 1992 Oldsmobile, driven by Julian Joseph Brignac, 49, of Baltimore, Md., about 7:20 p.m. in the right west bound lane of Highway 90 at McLaurin Street in Waveland.

He continued, following the collision, Brunell drove off, leaving the scene of the accident.

The Pontiac was later found abandoned on Gex Street in Waveland, Varnell added.

Later that evening, Varnell said, the car's owner, Favre, brought Brunell to the Waveland police station, where Brunell was charged and released, pending signature of an affidavit by Brignac.

Two passengers in Brignac's vehicle were brought by Mobile Medic to Hancock Medical Center (HMC), where according to HMC, they were treated and released.

According to Turan, Gary Maggio of Slidell stopped in the left lane of the Bay bridge, for reasons unknown.

Turan described, Steven Ford of Long Beach, two vehicles behind, was unable to stop or change lanes when the car before him, seeing Maggio's truck stopped, switched lanes.

Ford attempted to apply his brakes, the trooper added, but hit Maggio's truck. Maggio then fled the scene and was later stopped by Pass Christian police.

Maggio is also charged with obstructing traffic. Ford was transported to Memorial Hospital.

Daniel Ferguson, 16, of Bay St. Louis, Turan stated, hit Danko causing a chain reaction of collisions. Ferguson's vehicle veered to the right and turned over on its side.

Ferguson was cited for following too closely.

Businessman reigns as King Sparta XLII

Carter Church reigns as King Sparta XLII

Bay St. Louis businessman Carter Church reigned as King Sparta XLII in the first St. Charles Avenue night parade of the Mardi Gras season in New Orleans Feb. 13.

Church shared his reign with Miss Mary-Margaret Ashton Fitzmorris, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Noris Vernon Fitzmorris, debuting as the monarchs of the Knights of Sparta during "Echoes from the Golden Concert State" bal masque held at the Municipal Auditorium.

As the major designer of Mardi Gras ball royal attire for many years for krewes from New Orleans, Lafayette, Thibodaux, Lake Charles, many Alabama krewes and the local Krewe of Nereids, Church moved his design firm to Bay St. Louis several years ago.

A week prior to the masked ball, the monarchs entertained at the Fairmont Hotel. "An Evening at the Blue Room" set the stage for the location and floor show reminiscent of the famous acts that once played the Blue Room.

Krewe of Diamondhead hosts carnival ball

Special to the Echo

The Krewe of Diamondhead held its Mardi Gras ball on Saturday, Feb. 13 at the Diamondhead Country Club. The theme of the 18th annual extravaganza was "Circus."

The ballroom was lavishly decorated with ornate arrangements in the traditional colors of carnival. The table decorations carried out the theme of the ball.

The customary blowing of the whistle by the captain marked the formal opening of the ball.

The master of ceremony and president, Stan Robert, introduced the officers of the krewe: Jerry Bourg, treasurer; Hilda L. Bourg, publicity lieutenant; Chris Arnos, parade lieutenant; Laura Almerico, decoration chairperson and Ronald Bankston, ways and means lieutenant.

Trumpets heralded the entrance of the captain, Benny Mistratt. He promenade around the floor to carnival music.

The royal dukes and maids entered the ballroom in couples to the tune of "Bring in the Clouds." They are Mr. and Mrs. Billy Hammer, Mr. Thomas Moss and Mrs. Ronald Bank-ston, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Burkhardt and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Newman.

Each maid wore an individually styled ballgown. The dukes were attired in tuxedos with carnival color baldric.

The highlight of the evening was the presentation of their majesties, King Ali'i Honua XVIII Paul Snemyr and Queen Gisela Rainey.

The queen wore an ivory gown embellished with beads, pearls and multi-colored crystals. Her collar was encrusted with glittering rhinestones and crystals.

Their majesties' matching royal mantles were of purple and green velvet edged with a wide band of fur. Comedy and tragedy masks woven in gold sequins depicted the central motif. Under the masks, the logo of the krewe was portrayed in gold sequins. Rhinestone crowns and scepters completed the royal attire.

Couples were presented to the wife of the king, Janet Snemyr, and to the husband of the queen, Col. Harold Rainey.

Special guests of the royal couple were Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hanewinkel, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Godard; Major General and Mrs. Irv Ray of St. Petersburg, Fla.; Colonel and Mrs. James Stanley of Ft. Worth, Texas; Lt. Colonel and Mrs. Wallace Franklin of Montgomery, Ala.; and Mr. Khani Afkhami and Mrs. Arthur Galzerano of Huntsville, Ala.

1986 King Tom Satterlee and Queen Laura Almerico; 1987 King Stan Robert and Queen Maealy Swartzendruber; 1988 Queen Betty Claggett; 1989 King Herb Larson and Queen Dot Hoskins; 1990 King Ronald Bankston and Queen Linn Godard; 1991 King Ted Godard and Queen Evelyn Kibler and 1992 King Jerry Reshew and Queen Gertrude Waddington. Each monarch approached the throne and was presented a gift of flowers.

Music was provided by Bobby Ohler of New Orleans for the ceremony and for the dinner-dance which followed.

Hancock Women's Club

The annual meeting of Hancock Women's Club was held at the Reef Restaurant on Hwy. 603 on Thursday, Feb. 11. Guests were Amelia Killen and Margie Thomas, daughter of member Margaret Thomas.

President Loraine Townsend announced that updated by-laws and a new roster of members are being prepared and will be distributed at the next meeting. She also announced that financial records will be audited before the March meeting, and reminded members that dues will be payable at that meeting.

The Hancock County Sheriff's Department will be given a donation of $200 toward the purchase of a bullet-proof vest, and Sheriff Ronnie Peterson will be invited to speak at the April meeting.

President Townsend read an editorial from the Sea Coast Echo concerning theft of a wallet during shopping at a local supermarket, which cautioned women shoppers about watching their purses more closely, and read another item about noise-making alarms that are available for use in parking areas or other unsafe places.

A desire was expressed that the subject be explored further with perhaps a speaker giving the club members more information at a coming meeting.

Townsend asked for nominations from the floor for any of the officer positions for the coming year. Since there were none, the slate of Townsend for president, Lois Cripple for vice-president, Theresa Bourgeois, secretary, and Goldie Beven, treasurer, was carried unanimously. They will be installed at the next meeting, March 11 at the Galley, Waveland Resort Inn.

Marjorie Thomson will be the installing officer and was also appointed by Townsend to be ways and means chairman; Shirley Jones chosen as publicity chairman, Kathleen Ridgley as hospitality chairman, Margaret Mirandy as sunshine chairman, and Lorraine Norton as telephone committee chairman, assisted by Theone Gilley and Rosary Eble.

Townsend invited the newly elected and appointed individuals, who will also serve as board members, to attend the next board meeting together with the old board members, at 10 a.m., Monday, March 1 in the meeting room of the Bay St. Louis Library. The door prize was won by Marion Quinlan.

PRC's 'Hancock County Night' will be at Waveland Resort Inn

Pearl River Community College will sponsor a "Hancock County Night" starting with registration at 6 p.m. Thursday, March 4 at the Waveland Resort Inn.

Pearl River will have faculty, counselors and staff members on hand to explain admission procedures and to answer financial aid questions.

The college will provide special entertainment, door prizes and refreshments.

"The PRC Hancock County Night will give high school seniors and juniors, as well as local adults, the opportunity to see first-hand exactly what we have to offer," said Dr. Becky Askew, PRC recruitment director.

Pearl River College provides the first two years of academic class work which will transfer directly to a senior college, as well as a long list of one- and two-year technical and vocational programs which prepare the individual for immediate entrance into the area's workforce.

Hancock County is one of six which supports Pearl River College, Mississippi's first community college. Because of local support the tuition for a Hancock County student to attend PRC is only $425 per semester.

Recent State Department figures show that in the fall of 1992 73 percent of all Mississippi freshmen in public institutions of higher learning were enrolled in community colleges. The report also indicated that 53 percent of all college students in Mississippi's public institutions of higher learning were enrolled in community colleges. Today there are 71,000 students in the community college system and 58,000 enrolled in four-year institutions.

"It is documented that Pearl River College freshmen transferring to four-year institutions earn grade point averages equal to or better than their four-year college peers," said Askew. "And that is taking into consideration that as a group our ACT scores are 3 points lower."

Pearl River Guarantees credit transfers and guarantees employers that all technical training meets industry standards.

For more information about the Hancock County Night, call 795-6801.

Schools seek parents of disabled children

The Bay St. Louis-Waveland and Hancock County School districts are participating in an ongoing state effort to locate and evaluate children from birth through age 21 who have disabilities and who are not enrolled in school.

The school district provides services for the following disabilities: speech-language, specific learning disabilities, educationally disabled, visually impaired, hearing impaired, physically disabled and emotionally disabled.

Furthermore, this information gathered from contacts with parents and other agencies will be used to help determine present and future program needs as progress is made toward a goal of providing free appropriate public education to all disabled children in the Bay

St. Louis-Waveland and Hancock County districts.

Information that could identify the disabled individual is protected by the school district in accordance with the Family Rights and Privacy Act and Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA).

Parents have the right to inspect information about a child and challenge its accuracy.

Persons with disabled children who are 21 years old or younger, are encouraged to contact the Bay St. Louis-Waveland and Hancock County schools' Child Find Coordinator, Mrs. Sherry M. Ponder.

Her address is 740 Dunbar Ave., Bay St. Louis, MS 39520, and her telephone number is 467-1021 or 467-2031.

"Give us your convictions, as for doubts, we have enough of them already."
Johann Wolfgang Von Goethe

What you believe does make a difference.
The wisdom of the ages is to know which direction
God is going and follow Him.

Worship God every day and attend worship services this week at the church of your choice.
